PropertyBoss announces Partnership with RentalHunt

Greenville, SC – PropertyBoss Solutions, a Greenville, SC-based company offering property management software and services, announces an exciting partnership with RentalHunt, to offer an integrated rental listing service to their clients. Using PropertyBoss' PropertyListing with the RentalHunt Internet Listing Service provides landlords and property management companies an easy and efficient automated means to reach millions of potential customers.

"We received a dozen leads the first day we started using PropertyListing with the RentalHunt Internet Listing Service", said Jonathan McCormick, Broker/Owner of Ammre Inc. of Albuquerque, NM. "My staff doesn't have to do anything to list our available properties and our owners receive a broad advertising base through the Internet and mall kiosks. We get unlimited listings for a low flat-rate fee, saving us money. PropertyListing with RentalHunt Internet Listing Service brings in the leads - this choice was easy."

The RentalHunt Internet Listing Service allows property managers to advertise their available inventory on RentalHunt's online advertising website, other popular websites, and kiosks (typically in high traffic areas like shopping malls) in selected markets. Once a client signs up for PropertyListing, each available property is automatically advertised through RentalHunt to over a dozen leading rental websites. When the property is rented the listing is automatically removed from those sites until it is ready to be advertised again.

RentalHunt's President, Christopher Nichols explained: "The real beauty of this partnership is the effortless integration of the proprietary software platforms of the two companies. All of the information available in the PropertyBoss database is seamlessly transferred to our platform, making advertising the properties seem automagical."

About RentalHunt

RentalHunt was founded in 2005 and is now one of the premier rental search services on the Internet.
